Trevadores Quartet Tour For 73

A new picture, a new record, a new member, and a new summer tour for the '73 Trevadores, whose members are Curtis Sellers, second tenor from East Point, Georgia; Mark Line, first tenor from Columbia, South Carolina; Ken Latham, bass guitar from Nashville, Tennessee; Bod Dodd, bass and pianist from Orlando, Florida; and Ron McCormick (the "new member"), baritone from Huntsville, Alabama.

The Trevadores have been active during the school year, traveling with Mr. Harold Latham in Public Relations. They have worked in every district of the Trevecca Educational Zone since last October, traveling over 13,000 miles and helping to recruit students for next fall. They have appeared twice this year on a statewide television coverage in Alabama. Other highlights have included appearances in outdoor band shelters in Florida, high schools, city-wide rallies, zones, retreats, etc.

A rigorous schedule is prepared for their summer tour, which begins on June 1, 1973. They will be out for seventy days and will be presenting 94 concerts and services across our eight states and districts. Included in the tour will be their visit to seven district youth camps and one young adult retreat, along with an annual teen jamboree on the West coast of Florida, and twenty-four Zone Impact Rallies throughout the Southeast. Public Relations reports that a total of 20,000 miles will be covered in this annual tour.

Posters, pictures and information is being sent to every zone, district, church and camp where they will be appearing. You are invited to attend any of these events that will be appearing in your area during the summer.

In a conversation with Mark, a deep love and devotion was expressed not only for traveling for Trevecca, but mostly for being able to spread the Good News of Jesus Christ. "I pray that God will always be first in my life, and I hope I can be a good example for Trevecca, but more so for Jesus. I know of no greater privilege than to be able to tell someone what Jesus has done for me." He also talked of the past year's travels and the coming summer tour. "This year has been the best I've ever spent on the road. God really blessed us and the ministry of Rev. Latham touched the hearts of those that heard him as he preached the words God gave.

God has been so good to all of us... we don't deserve rich gifts from Him. I am looking forward to the ten weeks of tour this summer. I know God will help us if we trust Him. All of us are excited about what Christ can do if only we give Him our best! I hope all students will pray for us that we will see many young people turn their 'eyes toward Jesus.' Ask the students to remember the Trevadores on the road, pray for us as we travel. I know that there's a lot of miles of bad roads and terrible drivers!"

Continue to pray for the Trevadores and their summer ministry that lies ahead for them.

Forensics

Forensics: what is it? Without confusing you, it's argumentative speaking. Debate, if you please. Of course this includes any tupe of competitive public speaking as well.

You have met Carl Hall and Jana Slone in chapel recently. (In case you were asleep, they won the Tennessee Speech Association Oratory Contest for men and women.) But there were other students who participated in Trevecca's first year of intercollegiate forensic activity.

Those who entered tournaments in debate were Herb Agee, Karen Byrd, Mary Hampton, Jana Slone, and Ric Unruh. They traveled to tournaments held at Morehead State University, Morris Harvey College, University of Kansas, Tennessee Tech. University, Motlow State Community College, and University of Kentucky-Somerset.

The record of the debating is 17 wins and 37 losses. However, each of these first-year debaters made outstanding progress and will represent us well in future years. At the Tennessee Tech. tournament, for example, Mary Hampton won fifth place affirmative speaker and Herb Agee won third place negative speaker and overall third place speaker. But the crowning achievement in debate came when Mary Hampton and Karen Byrd won third place affirmative at the University of Kentucky-Somerset. This was the first debate trophy ever won in Trevecca's history.

It is of even greater significance that Trevecca was represented nationally by two of our students. Carl Hall and Jana Slone competed in the 100th Annual Interstate Oratorical Contest in Mankato, Minnesota. This was possible after each of them won first place for the state of Tennessee.

The future of Trevecca's intercollegiate forensics program is bright. It will take the participation of all interested students to assist in improving on this initial year. (Don't forget, the Trojans lost every basketball game in their first year of intercollegiate action.) Professor Coulter is encouraging anyone to enroll for courses in the fall quarter which will enable you to enter this exciting and rewarding activity. If nothing else, at least you know what forensics is.

South-Eastern Zone Quizzing Held At Trevecca

Linda Cramer

Trevecca was the scene of the South-eastern Zone Bible quizzing competition at College Hill. Nine areas were involved: North Carolina, Alabama, Kentucky, East Tennessee, Mississippi, South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, and Florida.

Each area was represented by a top team of quizzers consisting of five teens, making a total of forty-five quizzers. Each team had to be beat in three rounds before elimination. The team remaining without three losses won the zone.

The process of forming state quiz teams is a tedious process. Each state has a different method; here is how the Alabama district does it: teams composed of five teens from local Nazarene churches compete for the zone. The five top individual scorers of this are compiled into a team to quiz against other districts, the winner of which goes to state competition. The five top quizzers here then come to Trevecca to represent the state in the Southeastern Zone. Hours of study and hard efforts of the zone winner are rewarded with a gold engraved trophy.

Each year a different portion of the Bible is used for quizzing, this year's being the Book of Luke. Contestants are quizzed thoroughly over this material both before and during competition. The teams of the various states were placed into three groups of two and one group of three to make quizzing easier.

After all quizzing rounds were completed, the resulting slate of winners was: 1st place, Georgia; 2nd place, Kentucky; 3rd place, Alabama; 4th place, South Carolina; and 5th place, North Carolina. These teams will now go and represent the Southeastern zone against other Nazarene colleges across the nation.

We extend our congratulations to all the teams for their hard work and involvement in the study of God's Word.

To Be Rather Than To Seem

Bill Gunno

The posters are down. The campaign speeches with their pending promises have been made. The ballots have been cast. With the junior run-off the last election is now over. Next year's student council is an elected reality for the purpose of service and representation. The question which now stands is not who will hold the student offices, but rather will those who have been elected to office fulfill their purpose.

The new student council should profit by observing the success as well as the failures of the present STUCO. The record of the present STUCO has had its high and low points; it has been successful at some projects; however, others have not ended in complete success, and still others have been entirely abandoned. Some of their projects have been accomplished with ease, and others have been met with great opposition. Each of these events should be studied. When possible the reason for success or failure should be determined. If next year's STUCO undertakes similar projects, then the knowledge gained from studying the past experiences will enhance the possibilities of a fruitful completion.

I would congratulate the new student council officers for their election; however, I would simultaneously remind them that their election is to an office of representation. The students have given them a vote of confidence. In their election to an office the students have said that they have confidence these people will represent their interest and serve in the fulfillment of the duties as an officer.

In the representative form of government, there is too often a lack of representation. The personal interests and opinions of the elected becomes more important than those who they represent. The campaign speeches are forgotten. The promises which accompanied them have been erased from their memories almost instantaneously with the oaths to office.

It has often been stated in the student council this year that "We are here to represent the best interest of the students." Each time I have heard this statement I wonder if it is true in reality or only in an idealistic mind. Each new council member should strive to the goal of this statement even when it seems impossible. The representative should take the initiative to speak to the student. He should seek to find the will of the students.

The members of the student council should remember that impeachment can become a reality. This action, which proves to be quite embarrassing, has been used at one of our sister colleges this year. The student officer, against whom these charges were placed, did not complete his duties. Because he did not fulfill his obligations he justly suffered the results of impeachment.

With this student officer as an example, the new STUCO should remember that impeachment, or even poor service, has far reaching results. It announces to anyone who has reason to check the record of the victom of impeachment that he is unable to complete his obligations.

Each new student council officer holds part of the key to a successful student government. If each member does his job well and everyone works together, then the results will be the best STUCO that Trevecca has ever experienced.

The challenge is open to the new student government. As the motto reads, the new STUCO should "be rather than seem". They should be better than any STUCO prior to next year. They can build upon the successes and failures of past student councils. It is their turn to build the best possible student government.

BARE LEGS HALT GAME

Saturday night, February 17, the championship basketball game between the Alphas and Gammas, was called due to the appearance of both teams on the floor in gym shorts. The approved practice is for the players to wear sweat pants.

The same type of incident occurred Friday night, but the game was permitted to go on with the understanding that on the next night the approved clothing would be worn.

The players were protesting the recent action of the Board of Trustees concerning gym attire. The Board first tabled a motion calling for more conventional gym attire and then sent the issue to a committee.

Coach Heaberlin commended the boys for standing by what they thought was right, but requested that the boys go back and change clothes. The boys refused to follow the practice, and the game was called.

PURITANISM

The recent Board of Trustees meeting brought to light an element of religious Puritanism still present in the Church of the Nazarene.

The refusal of the Gammas and Alphas to play the championship basketball game last Saturday night is evidence that young people object to religious Puritanism when its observance has no relevance to spirituality.

Coincidentally stated in the form of petition, the editorial position of this newspaper is as follows.

We, the undersigned, do hereby petition that the Board of Trustees adopt the recommendations of the Committee on Athletic Attire presented at the recent meeting of the Board of Trustees.

We submit the following justifications for this request:

1. We, the students, do not consider that the recommendation of the Committee on Athletic Attire involves a moral issue.
 - a. There is nothing immodest or immoral about the sight of a young man's legs.
 - b. A young lady's modesty, when engaged in athletic activity, is better preserved by slacks or bermudas than by skirts.
2. We, the students, do not consider that the recommendations of this committee involve a spiritual issue. As junior high and senior high school participants and spectators, we found confrontation with regular athletic attire had no bearing on our Christian experiences.
3. We, the students, consider the recommended athletic attire to be proper and normal for such activities.
4. We, the students, will continue to strive to be conscientious Christians.
 - a. We feel the image of the college will be improved if we present a more conventional appearance.
 - b. We are willing to be "set apart" for matters of spiritual significance, but do not wish to be embarrassed in areas that have no spiritual relevance.

When the church of Jesus Christ changes to stay current with its message to the world, that is good. But when she compromises that message for the world she is no longer one of his churches. She is just a nice gathering place.

John 3:14 says, "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up." When we take that blessed old rugged cross from the place God set it and bring it down into the world smearing it with the skum and slime of compromise, we are making friends with Satan and are just as foolish as the soldier who could not make up his mind. It is high time we took that cross and held it high exactly as it is for a lost and dying world to look to and find new life. The Spirit of God can settle on a place and bring great blessings and great power, but when the people become lukewarm, it can leave as fast as it cam.

Some of you may be thinking, "Mark, you big fish, you must think you're better and more spiritual than anybody else the way these articles read." No friends, as a matter of fact, there are times that I meet up with Satan and melt like a glob of plastic over a fire. Preaching, articles, or whatever, they have as much to say to me as to those who read them. My prayer is that God will help us all to be hot on fire for Him and run through the devil by His power, because if we are not, He is going to repeat His message to Laodicea to us.

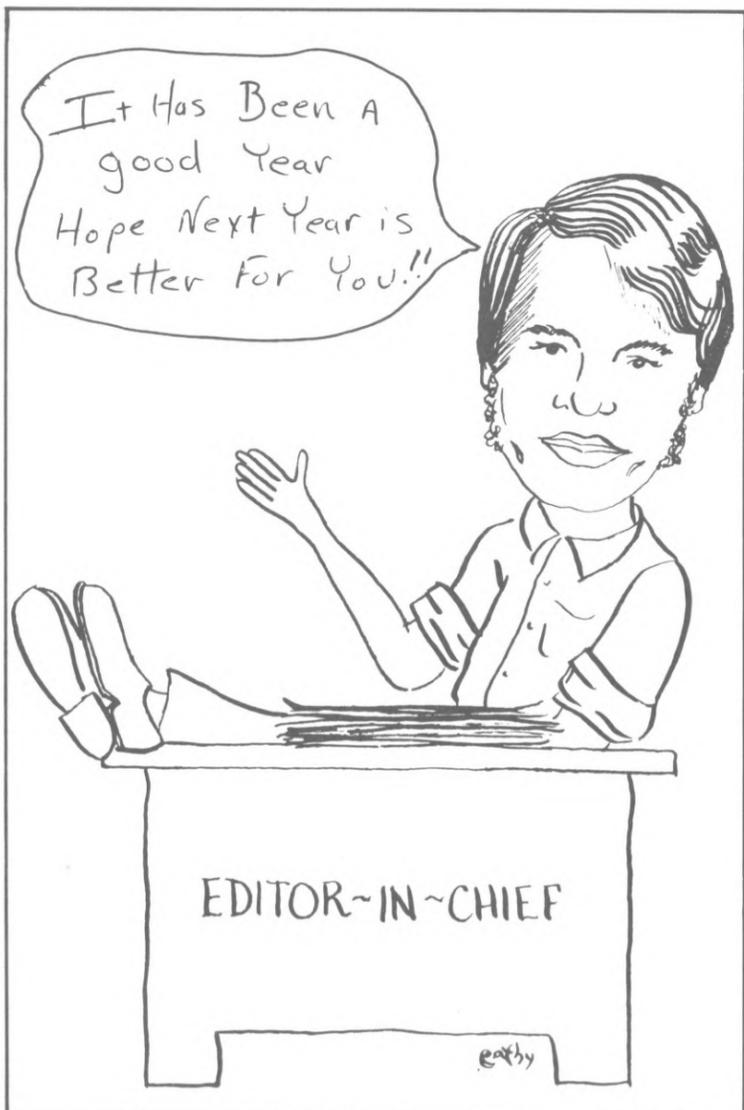

Fence Riders

Mark Farris

Many people know John 3:16 by heart. It is a pity that we all do not just as quickly recognize another 3:16: the one found in Revelation. The message is to the church at Laodicea, "So then because thou art lukewarm and neither cold nor hot, I will spew thee out of my mouth."

The church at Laodicea had the same problem that many of our churches and people have today. They were fence riders, not willing to take a firm stand for God or against Satan. They want to accept God and go along with Satan at the same time. Satan is the enemy of God, and it is impossible to accept them both. Imagine a soldier in combat that likes the enemy, yet he wishes to defend his colors too. His platoon comes under heavy fire and must move out and as they move he catches a glimpse of the enemy. He does not know whether to return fire and defend his country or whether to run and inflict no harm to his opposition. And as he stands there in that moment of indecision, he is mowed down like a blade of grass by enemy fire.

I have been disturbed to the point of tears to see the church try to become "relevant" to the world by comprising with it. It will not work! It never has and it never will. The Bible refers to Satan many times as the God of this world and Satan is the enemy. I realize the church has to change to remain current. Henry Ford made a pretty good automobile in 1903, but if it had never been changed for today's interstate highways systems we would have a lot of angry car owners demanding horses. Had he taken the headlights out and put propellers in their place and added wings to it, he would have an airplane, not a car.

STUCO Members Of The Month

by Linda Cramer

Two students that are dedicated to Trevecca and the furtherance of its Christian cause are this month's outstanding Student Council representatives: Beth Greathouse and Danny Boone.

Beth, a sophomore, is from Overland Park, Kansas, where she attends Kansas City First Church of the Nazarene. Here, she attends Nashville First Church and teaches a third grade Sunday School class.

Majoring in medical technology and minoring in biology, Beth is involved in a number of activities on the TNC campus. Besides being a STUCO representative, she is in the Honor Society, Sigma Zeta Club (honorary math and science organization), secretary of the Guild, a member of the Concert Choir, a biology lab assistant, and a princess of the Valentine court. In her freshman year, she was also a STUCO representative, in the Guild, and Concert Choir.

What little spare time she has is spent in sewing, singing with various music groups, swimming, doing schoolwork, and working with STUCO.

Her future plans include working as next year's Student Council treasurer and as a departmental assistant in biology, attending summer school, and eventually becoming a medical technologist.

As a witness of her faith and fellowship with God and Trevecca students, Beth states: "Trevecca has meant a great deal to me for a long time, but in the past two years I've come to love this place, and I've wanted to get involved in making it a better school. My concern is that people will continue to take an interest in school government and life.

"I thank God for the Christian fellowship at Trevecca and for His guidance and presence in my life. His will is the most important guiding force in my life, and I want to follow His plan in all that I do."

Our other Student Council representative this month is Junior Danny Boone. Although now living in Nashville, his real home is in McComb, Mississippi. He is majoring in religion and minoring in speech-communications.

Danny is active in all phases of TNC life. Among his numerous activities and positions are that of Student Council vice-president, assistant to the Department of Religion, and head resident of Wise Hall.

He has little time to devote to hobbies, as most of his off campus hours are spent in churchwork and in the office of Alamo Plaza. However, when he has the opportunity, he likes to play softball and read.

Danny's future plans are getting married this summer (June 16, to be exact) and attending seminary after graduation.

In relation to Student Council and its purpose, he says: "I've got confidence in the student body of Trevecca, and I feel that the Student Council is the best means of representing the entire student body, and I would encourage every student to be responsibly involved and not merely vocally inclined."

Although STUCO is very important to Danny, his God and the Christian life are more so: "I believe the essence of religion is getting involved in life and showing a Christian example and being a Christian example in everything that we enjoy doing."

May this concept be the guiding factor of each individual's daily life.

A Smile A Friend A Follower of God

by Pat Light

If you give him a hello, he'll give you a smile. And if you want to talk, he'll be your friend. His name is Noah and, as his name suggests, he is a great follower of God. Noah's home is Taiwan. He came to this country to learn more about people, about life, and about himself. He is very dedicated and studies a great deal. Because Noah is from a different country, it is harder to grasp so much at once than for those of us who have lived here all our lives. Therefore, his accomplishments are greater because he has to conquer greater obstacles.

Noah loves his country. He wants to take the knowledge he obtains here back to his people and teach them what he has learned. His ambition is to be a pastor or a missionary in his country. He desires to give of himself and let Jesus work through him to reach his people. Noah is majoring in Psychology. He wants to be able to know people's problems before they even tell him, and then to have a ready solution.

Noah wants to translate English books into Chinese so that his people can enjoy a different world to add to their own, and can broaden their horizons. In turn, he shares his world with us. English comes easier with practice each day, but he still knows Chinese best. He speaks words such as "love" and "peace" in Chinese. Then he may recite a portion of a Chinese poem.

Among Noah's many accomplishments, he is able to recite over a thousand Chinese poems, tell fortunes, play the trumpet, and he teaches little children how to sing "Jesus Loves Me" in Chinese. The rest of his time is spent studying. He doesn't like to waste time, because he has a specific goal to reach and time is very important to his future. We can all learn a lesson from him.

Like everyone else who has ever been away from home, Noah experiences a type of loneliness and longing for his family and the girl he left at home. At these times, he says singing songs helps him a great deal. A song can be a friend anytime you choose to sing it. And as long as you can sing, there's hope. With a song, Alone isn't such a harsh word. I'm sure there are a lot of students on campus who can sympathize with Noah. And even if Taiwan is a little farther away than Georgia, Alabama, or Florida, the pain is real just the same. Many have felt it. We all know how it is.

The story of how Noah got his name is very simple. He was given the chance to pick a Biblical name that could be said in English better than his Chinese name. He thought it over and considered a few of the great men of the Bible. Then he settled on the name "Noah," because out of all the men in the Bible, Noah impressed him the most. His reason was that Noah was a good man; a patient man. He was also very dedicated in preaching God's word to his people. Even when they rejected him and his prophesy, he didn't give up. He stayed in God's will up to the very last minute. Noah must have had compassion for his people to keep on trying to persuade them to follow God. Those are a few things which made a young man from Taiwan choose the name "Noah" to be his own.

This world needs a man like Noah who wants more than anything to help. Instead of criticizing and complaining about the way things are, he's going to do something about it and do his part to change his world into something better. He'll love people and dry a few tears. He'll listen when they talk and be around when they need him. A physician of broken hearts and wasted dreams, he'll be able to touch them and they, in turn, will grow to love him. We're very proud that he has chosen Trevecca to help him realize his dreams.

It is better to light one candle Than to curse the darkness.

A New Face or Nine New Faces

Robin Jones

Trevecca has a new face and a new family. In case some of you haven't met them yet, I'd like to introduce you to Mr. Wayne G. Gallup, his wife Wilma, and their seven children.

Mr. Gallup and his family have not always lived in Nashville. Mr. Gallup attended Olivet and graduated in 1957 with a degree in Music Education. He worked in engineering both before and after college. His last engineering job was as a designer with General Electric. His other experiences include: church custodian where he learned to lay carpet and finish floors, bus driver, and fireman. Fourteen years were spent as Minister of Music at a church in Trenton, Ohio. The last four years he was a full-time Associate Minister in Xenia, Ohio, with Rev. Merline Provance, presently at College Hill.

The field of nursing attracted Mrs. Gallup. She is presently an R.N. She previously was the director of a Nazarene Kiddie College that had about 140 children enrolled. Of course, she has had experience with children... she has seven. The oldest is married.

Her name is Debbie Tucker. Debbie attended Olivet. Next is Greg, who is 17 and presently attending Xenia High. Jeff is 15 and goes to McGavock High. Doug is 13 and attends Donelson Jr. High. Todd is 11 and is a student at Napier Elementary School. Steve, 10, and the twins Michelle and Melissa, 6, go to Margaret Allen Elementary. Certainly there must never be a dull moment for this family.

Mr. Gallup is the new Plant Superintendent in Charge of Buildings and Grounds. He was contacted by Dr. Moore before Mr. Bentley left and mostly through the providence of God they are at Trevecca now. The family believes that God has had a great deal to do with their being here. In looking back, Mr. Gallup appreciates all the various skills he had acquired before he had this job.

The family is happy to be at Trevecca and happy to be in God's will. We, of Trevecca, are glad to have them. Each of us should make an effort to meet this new family on campus. Mr. Gallup expressed the fact that he is here to help. Fall, Winter, Spring, Summer... he is now "A Man For All Seasons."

Trevecca Is To Receive New Business Manager

Trevecca will soon have a new business manager. President Mark R. Moore announced that the position of business manager will be filled by Everett L. Holmes. Mr. Holmes, who is currently burser (treasurer) at Mt. Vernon Nazarene College, has been connected with our colleges for eight years. He is the Sunday school Superintendent of First Church, Mt. Vernon Ohio; a member of the District Church School Board; and has taught accounting for two years in college. He has had nine years experience in industry as office manager with Ford Motor Company and Reynolds Pallet and Box Company. The position of business manager, which was left vacant when Mr. Richards moved to Bethany Nazarene College, has temporarily been filled by Mr. McGraw. Mr. McGraw will be retiring from full time service at the culmination of this year. Mr. Holmes will assume the duties June 1, 1973.

Mr. Holmes, his wife and four children recently spent two days on campus to acquaint themselves with Trevecca and the Nashville area.

He was well-liked and appreciated by the students at Mr. Vernon. Several transfer students from that college have expressed their feelings concerning Mr. Holmes:

Kathy Erwin says, "Mr. Holmes was always ready to help you. He found work for those who needed it and was more concerned about the student as a person than almost anyone I have ever known. He would be a definite asset to our administration."

Rick Curmutte relates that he has always like him. "He was helpful in finding a job for me when I needed it. I really feel that he did a fine job while he was at Mt. Vernon and will do good work at Trevecca."

Linda Patterson also says that he will do a fine job. "He has a great sense of humor and always gets along well with students."

Jane Cowger was only associated with him one time in his official capacity; however, she said, "He was very friendly and tried to help."

Larry Cook amplified the sympathies of almost every Mt. Vernon transfer at Trevecca when he said, "He was always helpful. He did much to arrange financial aid for me. He took a personal interest in me as well as every other student. I feel that he would make an excellent business manager."

We will be looking forward to the arrival of Mr. Holmes. From the reaction of the Mt. Vernon alumni, it would seem that Mt. Vernon's loss will be Trevecca's gain.

TROJAN BASEBALL

by Dale Smith

BELMONT 3 TNC 2

In Trevecca's best effort of the year, the wind blew at the wrong time and cost the Trojans a chance for a major upset over cross-town rival Belmont College.

The Trojans scored first in the third inning as Randy Fletcher was nicked by an inside pitch. Designated hitter Mike Griner laid down a perfect sacrifice bunt that was fielded by the pitcher and thrown to first where it was dropped by the first baseman Fletcher, meanwhile, had raced all the way to third and Griner reached second. With one out Dale Smith grounded to third. The third baseman threw wildly to the plate as Fletcher tallied. The Trojans scored again in the sixth, as Frank Damron doubled to left-center, moved to third on Charlie Tyler's flyball and scored when Hal Hatley's two-out grounder was booted by second baseman Ron Davis.

The Trojans led 2-1 going into the ninth. Belmont had two outs and had runners at first and second. On an 0-2 count pinch-hitter, Ron Childers lifted a fly ball to right that was taken by the wind far down the right field line. When the dust had cleared, Childers was perched on third as both runners had scored and Belmont led 3-2.

The Trojans got one man on base in the ninth but could not get him home as they saw their hopes of an upset dashed by the wind.

Larry Reynolds pitched his finest game in a losing effort for the Trojans.

UNIV. OF THE SOUTH 8-6 TNC 7-6

The snake-bitten Trojans journeyed to Sewanee and once again snatched defeat from the jaws of victory. In the first game, pitcher Jerry Glass was sailing along with a 6-1 lead and suddenly the roof fell in. A walk here and an error there, and suddenly Sewanee lead 7-6. The Trojans rallied to tie the game in the seventh only to have Sewanee score the winning run in the eighth and win 8-7. Randy Fletcher and Frank Damron had key hits in the early innings to spark the Trojans to their early lead. Dale Smith's single in the seventh tied the score at 7 each until Sewanee struck the fatal blow in the eighth. Charlie Tyler had 2 hits and an RBI in four trips to the plate.

In the second game, the "Iron Man" met his match and the Trojans rallied from behind only to blow a three run lead in seventh and had to settle for a 6-6 tie as the game was called on account of darkness in the ninth inning.

Frank Damron, last year's MVP, received a broken thumb as a line-drive off the bat of Sewanee's Dee McMillan got past his gloved hand and was played barehanded. Frank will be lost for the season, as he undergoes surgery to repair the injured thumb. His bat will be missed in the Trojan line-up.

The Trojan's down 3-1 in the sixth tied the score at 3-3 and scored 3 more in the seventh to run the score to 6-3. Sewanee picked away at the lead to score three of their own in the seventh on some shoddy defensive play by the Trojans.

Trojan stickwork was led by sub Eddie Redmon, who contributed 3 hits including a 2-run double in the absence of Damron. Larry Cook collected 3 hits while Dale Smith and Hal Hatley chipped in 2 each. (1st game)

MARTIN 13-8
TNC 3-5
Upon returning from a successful 4th place finish in the King College Baseball Tournament in Boca Raton, Florida, the Trojan nine met defeat twice at the hands of Martin College in Pulaski, Tennessee.

Martin jumped on Trevecca with eight runs in the first inning and for all practical purposes put the game out of reach early. They coasted to an easy 13-3 victory.

Charles Tyler's 2 RBI's and Larry Reynolds' RBI chased home Larry Cook, Jon Thrash and relief pitcher Jim Laing with the Trojan's only runs.

In the second game Martin once again jumped to an 5-0 cushion in the third inning. The Trojans scored four times in the fourth to narrow the gap only to have Martin score twice in the fifth and once in the sixth. The Trojans tallied once in the seventh to narrow the gap to the final score of 8-5.

Jon Thrash had two hits, an RBI and scored once to pact the sputtering Trojan offense.
